Why Aptis?

1: Fast + flexible

Aptis is quick to reserve (often with only a few days' notice) and quick to certify: results typically arrive within 48–72 hours. It's also cheaper than many traditional English exams, which makes it a practical choice when you need an official certificate fast.

2: Multi-level (no pass/fail)

Aptis is multi-level, so you don't "pass" or "fail". Instead, your certificate shows a CEFR level from A1 to C1. This reduces pressure: if you aim for B2 but achieve B1, you still receive a valid certificate for your level.

3: Recognised + practical

Aptis is widely accepted in Spain by universities and public institutions. Students often use it to strengthen a CV, apply for jobs, meet university requirements, join programmes such as Erasmus, or gain points for oposiciones. Many candidates also find it a simple, skills-focused exam that works well for real academic and professional needs.

Exam Overview

Aptis General reports your performance in five components: Grammar & Vocabulary (Core), Reading, Listening, Writing, and Speaking.

Grammar and Vocabulary: You have 25 minutes to complete 25 grammar and 25 vocabulary questions.

Reading: You have 35 minutes to complete 4 tasks, from simple gap fills to matching headings.

Listening: You have 40 minutes to answer 25 questions, from multiple-choice questions to opinion matching.

Writing: You have 50 minutes to complete 4 tasks, from simple short answers to formal and informal emails.

Speaking: It takes around 12 minutes, going from short personal questions, describing and comparing photos, to a short presentation.

In the four skills (Reading, Listening, Writing and Speaking), the tasks start easier, and become more difficult as you progress.

Exam Day – Key Information

2: Arrive early

Arrive at least 30 minutes before the exam and wait for staff instructions.

You can bring a pen or pencil if you wish; it may be checked.

4: Bags and personal items

All personal items must be left in the designated area during the test.

5: Speaking is computer based

Speaking uses pre-recorded questions and is completed on a computer (no live examiner interaction).
🚨 All candidates complete the speaking at the same time, which can be very distracting!

6: Use your own ideas

Memorised or pre-prepared answers may be detected and treated as malpractice.

7: Extra notes

Under 18: bring signed parental authorisation if leaving unaccompanied.
Need an attendance certificate? Tell staff before the exam.

8: Results

Digital certificates are sent by email 48–72 hours after the exam (excluding weekends/holidays).

Results explained

1: Understanding your Aptis scores

Aptis gives you a score from 0–50 for each skill: Reading, Listening, Writing, Speaking. Each score matches a CEFR level (A1–C1).

Important: The exam also includes Grammar & Vocabulary (Core). A strong performance can sometimes improve your final level in any individual skill if you are just below a CEFR band.

2: CEFR Cut-Scores for Aptis General

These numbers represent the minimum score needed to achieve each level.

Skill	A1	A2	B1	B2	C1
Listening	8	16	24	34	42
Reading	8	16	26	38	46
Writing	6	18	26	40	48
Speaking	4	16	26	41	48

3: Calculating your Reading and Listening Scores

Because Reading and Listening consist of 25 questions converted to a score out of 50, it's easy to calculate how many points you need — or even how many mistakes you can make.

For example, imagine you need a B2:

- Reading B2 starts at 38/50 = 19/25 correct:

You can make 6 mistakes in this component.

- Listening B2 starts at 34/50 = 17/25 correct:

You can make 8 mistakes in this component.

🚨 Your Grammar and Vocabulary score can make a big difference: if your score in a skill is just below the minimum, a strong Core score may upgrade that skill.
Example: a score of 36 in Reading may be counted as B2 rather than B1.
