READING PART 2

Text Cohesion

Task Overview

Part 2 actually consists of two identical tasks: You must reorder six sentences so that the text makes sense and is well connected. Typically, these tasks include reports, instructions, biographies, and short narratives.

Key points:

- There are two texts of six sentences
- The first sentence is done for you
- There are 6 marks available: 3 for each text. 🚨 If you make one mistake, you get 0 points for that task!
- You need to analyse each sentence carefully to find connections

General strategy

· Read sentence 1 to identify the type of text and the topic

· Read the remaining sentences, taking note of clue words:

- linkers (however, as a result etc.)
- other references like pronouns (it, they, this), time markers (before, later, once)

· Think about where this sentence belongs logically: beginning / end / middle?

· Reread the final ordered text to see if it makes sense!

In this chapter, you will:

- practise strategies for identifying cohesive clues between sentences
- complete additional practice tasks

Want more Reading Part 2 practice?
Scan the QR code to access extra practice and explanations in the Seif Aptis Trainer.

Guided Reading Tasks

In the following tasks, you will first learn how to analyse sentences for clues on how they link together, before completing them.

Task 1: Collecting a parcel from a locker

The sentences below are from a set of instructions. Put the sentences in the right order. The first sentence is done for you.

Look at each sentence carefully. Do not try to reorder them yet.
Focus on how each sentence links to others.

Sentence 1 (given)
To collect your parcel, please follow these steps at the locker.

For each sentence:

- Underline words or phrases that link it to other sentences
- Decide if it belongs near the beginning, middle, or end of the text.

A: If the door does not open, press the Help button to contact support.

What door is the text referring to? ◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

B. It will then indicate which locker box to use.

Find the pronoun: What does it refer to?
What word is used as a time marker? ◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

C. Remember to close the door and keep the receipt in case you need to return it.

The "door" again! Is this before/after A? ◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

D. Tap "Collect" on the screen and enter the code from your message.

What stage of the instructions is this? ◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

E. Next, press "Open" and take your parcel from the compartment.

What time marker is used here?
What step comes before this phase? ◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

Task 1: Analysis

A. If the door does not open, press the Help button to contact support.

- The phrase "the door" refers back to a door that has already been introduced.
- This sentence depends on an earlier action where a door is expected to open.
- The conditional, "if", suggests problem-solving, not starting instructions.
- This sentence is probably in the middle.

B. It will then indicate which locker box to use.

- "It" refers to something mentioned previously: probably, the screen.
- "Then" clearly shows this happens after a previous step.
- This sentence must be in the middle.

C. Remember to close the door and keep the receipt in case you need to return it.

- This sentence gives final reminders, once the package has been collected.
- It repeats "the door", which we previously opened.
- "in case" talks about a future condition: a problem with the package.
- This sentence should be at the end.

D. Tap "Collect" on the screen and enter the code from your message.

- This is a clear action step that starts the process.
- It introduces the screen, which later sentences refer back to.
- There are no references to earlier actions, suggesting it comes at the beginning

E. Next, press "Open" and take your parcel from the compartment.

- "Next" clearly signals this comes after previous steps.
- "The compartment" refers back to the locker box mentioned previously.
- This sentence comes after the box is identified: in the middle.

Now put the sentences in order:

1. ____ 2. ____ 3. ____ 4. ____ 5. ____

Task 2: Noise in the town library

The sentences below are from a report. Put the sentences in the right order. The first sentence is done for you.

Look at each sentence carefully. Do not try to reorder them yet.
Focus on how each sentence links to others.

Sentence 1 (given)
This report summarises feedback from visitors to the town library.

For each sentence:

- Underline words or phrases that link it to other sentences
- Decide if it belongs near the beginning, middle, or end of the text.

A: However, several visitors complained that it was too noisy to concentrate at certain times.

Highlight the linking word. What link does it express? What pronoun can you find? What do you think it refers to?

◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

B. In particular, they mentioned that phone calls were disturbing people in the quiet zone.

What linker is used? What previous idea does it refer to?
Highlight the pronoun. Who are "they"?

◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

C. It will also create a separate space for group study so as not to affect other users.

What does "it" refer to? What other linker can you find?

◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

D. As a result, clearer signage will be introduced and stricter rules enforced.

What linker can you find? How does it connect to the previous sentence?

◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

E. Most respondents said the staff were helpful and the facilities were comfortable.

Can you find any connections here? Who are the "respondents"?

◯ Beginning ◯ Middle ◯ End

Task 2: Analysis

A: However, several visitors complained that it was too noisy to concentrate at certain times.

- "However" shows contrast, so this sentence reacts to a more positive idea earlier.
- "Several visitors" refers back to the respondents who gave feedback.
- "It" refers to the library environment.
- It is probably in the middle of the text.

B. In particular, they mentioned that phone calls were disturbing people in the quiet zone.

- "In particular" shows this sentence adds detail or an example.
- "They" refers back to the visitors who complained.
- It must come after the complaint is introduced, and so also belongs in the middle.

C. It will also create a separate space for group study so as not to affect other users.

- "It" refers to the library, introducing further action it will take.
- "Also" shows this is an additional measure, not the first solution.
- This sentence must come towards the end of the text

D. As a result, clearer signage will be introduced and stricter rules enforced.

- "As a result" shows a consequence of what came before.
- The sentence introduces solutions to the complaints mentioned previously
- This sentence must also come towards the end of the text

E. Most respondents said the staff were helpful and the facilities were comfortable.

- "Most respondents" refers back to the people who gave feedback.
- The positive statement contrasts with later complaints introduced by "However".
- This sentence belongs near the beginning.

Now put the sentences in order:

1. ____ 2. ____ 3. ____ 4. ____ 5. ____

Practice Reading Tasks

Now try two more tasks using the same strategies we've just practised!

Task 1: Collecting a parcel from a locker

The sentences below are from a notice. Put the sentences in the right order.

Sentence 1 (given)

From January, the sports centre will introduce a new booking system.

A: To help everyone, staff will run short demonstrations next week at the front desk.

B. However, anyone without internet access can call reception to book instead.

C. Members will need to reserve their place online before they attend.

D. This change is designed to reduce queues and make sessions easier to manage.

E. Please bring your card when you attend so we can confirm your booking.

1. ____ 2. ____ 3. ____ 4. ____ 5. ____

Task 2: Workplace wellbeing survey

The sentences below are from a report. Put the sentences in the right order.

Sentence 1 (given)

This report presents the results of a recent workplace wellbeing survey.

A: Nevertheless, some reported feeling isolated when working from home.

B. They will also trial a monthly in-person day to help colleagues stay connected.

C. Others went on to suggest regular team check-ins to improve communication.

D. Most employees said that flexible start times helped with time management.

E. Accordingly, managers plan to introduce optional weekly meetings.

1. ____ 2. ____ 3. ____ 4. ____ 5. ____

Want more Reading Part 2 practice?

Scan the QR code to access full practice sets in the Seif Aptis Trainer.